

I think that the BPL is a BAD Idea. If the FCC allows the BPL to use part 15 of the FCC rules, Ham radio, military, aircraft, and other HF users would be completely blocked by the interference. The signal strength needed to produce a good signal on the BPL would be so strong that Ham radio operators would have to use batteries and have their transmitters so far away from the power lines that it would be impossible to operate.

Please do not allow BPL to continue, the HF frequencies is vital to the security of the homeland -- and without these frequencies, we cannot support the country in a disaster.
